GOOD ROADS EXHIBIT

The increasing interest in the subject of good roads is being met in many ways in the State of Kentucky. Among these is the endeavor on the part of the State Department of Good Roads to make practical demonstrations of the best way to build a first class highway. Read the following letter from the Commissioner of Good Roads concerning what the Department will do at the State Fair at Louisville, Sept. 15 to 20.

I wish to call your attention to the splendid road exhibit which will be put on at the State Fair at Louisville, Sept. 15 to 20. The State Department of Public Roads, assisted by the National Department of Public Roads, Washington, D. C., and the State Fair Association, have decided to put on one of the largest and most complete road exhibits ever put on in the State of Kentucky.

The exhibit, that will be shown at Louisville, will consist of road models from the National Government, which will occupy about 1000 square feet of floor space and will show each and every character of road in different stages of completion, and models of the most modern and up-to-date machinery for building roads. There will also be types of culverts, sub-soil drainage and other features of road building. There will be a large exhibit of colored photographs, showing different characters of roads and their progress throughout the United States. A pictorial exhibit will occupy 300 feet of wall space. There will also be given daily an illustrated lecture on the Fair Grounds, in connection with this exhibit by a representative of the National Department at Washington. Mr. J. O. Eldridge, a representative of the National Department, and Mr. J. I. Grimes, a representative of the exhibit will be ready and willing to give any information, that these visiting the exhibit wish, concerning the exhibits or concerning road building in general.

Mr. Logan W. Page, Director of the Office of Public Roads, Washington, D. C., has assured me, through Mr. Vernon N. Peirce, Acting Director, that Mr. Eldridge will bring lantern slides sufficient to have an illustrated lecture each day. Those interested in road building should not fail to see this exhibit and hear these lectures.

Mr. J. W. Newman, Commissioner of Agriculture, has assured me of his willingness to assist in every way possible in making the road exhibit one of the best in the State.

The Annual Convention of the Kentucky Good Roads Association will be called to order by Mr. H. A. Sommers, Chairman, on Tuesday the 16th, 2 p. m., in the Convention Tent at the State Fair Grounds, and a number of good speakers will be present and important matters, relating to road building in the State, will be discussed.

I trust, through the columns of your paper, that you will co-operate with us in giving every one interested in road building an opportunity to hear these lectures and see these exhibits.

Yours truly,
R. C. TERRELL,
Commissioner of Public Roads.

COVER CROPS.

Kentucky is a land largely made up of rolling, hilly, or even mountainous areas with most of its soil of a clay formation. These two conditions present a most favorable combination for washing and in nearly every part of the state one becomes impressed with the terrible damage done annually by the gully-ing of sloping areas caused by heavy rains. Corn is Kentucky's principal crop, especially from the standpoint of area planted, and this crop after the thorough loosening of the soil from cultivation during the summer leaves the ground in perfect condition for washing and subsequent gully-ing. The most effective way of preventing this great damage to our farms is by never leaving these cultivated areas open to the heavy rains of fall and winter, this being prevented by providing some growing crop to cover the ground during these seasons.

The plant most in favor as a cover crop in this state is rye. This is because of the relative cheapness of seed, the lateness at which rye can be sown, the comparative certainty of getting a stand, its degree of immunity to winter freezing and the pasture which the crop furnishes before plowing under preparatory to the next year's crop.

Rye as a cover crop may be sown in the corn field any time from September fifteenth to October fifteenth, the earlier seeding often furnishing good late fall and winter pasture. It would be an excellent practice if each farmer would annually sow enough rye as a regular crop to provide sufficient seed for planting all areas on the farm which otherwise would be left naked during the winter.

Doubtless the only shortcoming of rye as a cover crop is that it does not feed upon nitrogen taken directly from the air and hence adds more of this valuable element of plant food to the soil. We must look to the so-called leguminous plants to perform this function. Hairy, or winter vetch perhaps best supplements this need, and can be successfully grown with rye by reducing the quantity of rye seed and sowing during September, preferably not later than the fifteenth of that month. Rye and vetch after mixing can be sown from the grain drill, in which case from two to three pecks of rye and about twenty pounds of vetch per acre should be used. Winter vetch has a slim stem, leaflets somewhat trailing those of alfalfa in shape, and a blue clustering blossom which appear shortly before the ripening of the rye. Its reclining nature makes the rye of great benefit in its support for with its tendrils the vetch climbs nearly to the full height of the rye. The feeding value of vetch is excellent and more Kentucky farmers should test its merit as a cover crop, with rye.

THE KAVANAUGH S. S. ASSOCIATION.

The second annual convention of the Kavanagh circuit Sunday school association, M. E. Church South, met in Kavanagh chapel Sunday, Aug. 17, 1913. The meeting was called to order at 10 a. m. After singing that old familiar song, All Hail the Power, Rev. C. L. Neff led the devotional.

The roll call of the several Sunday schools being called for, were responded to by the superintendent as follows:

Cyrus chapel, reported by Jesse Cyrus, with 30 members present.

Cliff, reported by J. F. Hatten with 40 members present.

Buchanan chapel, reported by E. B. Curran with 30 members present.

Kavanaugh, reported by A. J. Haven with 25 members present.

Round Bottom, reported by Butler Davis with 20 members present.

Mary Moore chapel, was reported with only 3 members present.

Total delegation approximately 145.

The meeting was far a superior to the one held at the same place last year. The crowd was large and the best of order prevailed. The secretary's report showed a decided improvement of the schools in the past year. Superintendents and teachers seemed to be greatly encouraged.

Dinner was on the ground in great abundance composed of the very best things that the country provides. The good sisters of that place dealt it out with willing hands until all were bountifully fed.

In the afternoon, Bro. W. V. Evans, of Catlettsburg, addressed the meeting with a most appropriate and interesting subject. After other seasons speakers were present and each one handled his speech well.

The various committees made their reports as follows: Cyrus chapel was awarded the banner for having excelled all other schools in the circuit.

The Secretary of Cliff Sunday school won the gold medal for having kept the best and most complete record, and one of Cliff's Sunday school scholars won the rolled gold pin for having memorized the greatest number of verses in the circuit.

We feel sure that this meeting was a great success. It is indeed a treat to see the enthusiasm that exists on Sunday school work since the organization of this association.

We hope the interest will continue and we will have a rousing meeting at our annual meeting next year.

After adjournment all went home expressing themselves of the enjoyable time they had spent and as being benefited and each Superintendent resolving to win the banners at our next meeting.

C. L. NEFF, Pres.
PEARL D. COMPTON, Secy.

We, your committee on resolutions beg to submit the following report:

FIRST. We appreciate the splendid service rendered the Sunday schools by our preacher in charge. We also appreciate the splendid services of all the superintendents, officers and all the scholars for their assistance in making the meeting possible.

SECOND. We extend our thanks to the good people of this neighborhood who have so generously supplied us bountifully with such good things to eat and so generously serving it on the ground.

CONSERVING FARM LIFE.

If, as a boy, you had been shown by an enthusiastic teacher what fun there is in harnessing science to farm chores and how the mysteries and beauties of nature can be studied at close range with infinite satisfaction to your soul while meantime you were fitting to earn a comfortable livelihood, do you suppose that you would have been so eager to desert the old homestead for the noisy, smoky, nerve-straining city?

Wisconsin has just created an office known as the "County Representative of Agriculture." His duties are to advise with farmers regarding methods, aid in improving country life conditions, help to form co-operative societies, promote better business methods and assist in promoting agricultural teaching. If the county will pay $1,000 a year toward his salary, the state will match it with another $1,000. Selection will be made by the board of regents, on recommendation of the dean of agricultural college.

"Assist in promoting agricultural teaching." There you have the key to whether this new job will become a worth while. It isn't hard for a bright chap who has had the right training to be worth $2,000 a year to a county as a leader toward better farming; for unless he's worth that he won't be worth anything. And if he is worth that he can't in an angle, it will do the work of twenty men in getting the dirt away from the hill or back part of the road so the drag can get to it easily. Now we as Kentucky people are counted stubborn people and not apt to jump at new theories and ideas of others. I want to say to the good roads people of Lawrence county just try these simple pieces of road machinery and be convinced don't lay back in the shade and growl any longer about bad roads and condemn our county officials until you have done your part. Because you are a little over age or a little hot in one side, don't say because the law does not compel you to work, that you are not a road hand.

A LOVER OF ROADS.

The Woman on the Farm

is entitled to all the comforts which telephone service can and does provide.

The telephone makes farm life less lonesome for the woman because it brings her neighbors within speaking distance.

Aside from the social value, there is the element of protection to be considered. It is an extra safeguard, day and night, at all seasons of the year.

Is your farm supplied with Bell telephone service?
